

Mr. Dana Replies to Chamber of Commerce Letter

Franklin P. Hawkes, as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, received a prompt reply from General Manager Dana of the Boston Elevated to the letter sent through Mr. Hawkes from the Board of Directors of the Arlington Chamber of Commerce to the Boston Elevated officials relative to the inadequate car service for Arlington residents, who are obliged to use the Boston Elevated electric cars.

The letter from the directors of the Chamber of Commerce was printed in these columns last week.

The reply from Mr. Dana follows: "In reply to your letter of Jan. 16 I beg to say that back in November, 1921, a mass meeting was held in Arlington, which I attended, representing the Board of Trustees, in which it was the desire of the residents of Arlington to have service improved commensurate with the increasing population of the town.

"The Elevated Railway at once started plans in motion to accomplish this most desired object. The situation was surveyed and a piece of land purchased comprising 19 acres, which, from the transportation standpoint, would make it possible to solve the Arlington difficulties. Before detailed plans could be completed another mass meeting was called, which I also attended. At

Rev. Dudley H. Ferrell Will Come to Arlington

The churches of Arlington are arranging for a Great Union Service in the Robbins Memorial Town Hall, on Sunday evening, February 17, the first Sunday in Lent.

They have secured as the preacher for this service, Rev. Dudley H. Ferrell. Dr. Ferrell for a number of years has been at the head of the Social Welfare Department of the Masonic Bodies of Massachusetts. He is a captivating speaker and has a message well worth hearing.

Notable Preacher at the First Parish

The preacher at the First Parish on Sunday in exchange with Rev. John Nicol Mark is Rev. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson, of the First Parish Church of Dorchester. Dr. Hudson is one of the prominent ministers of the Unitarian Fellowship. He is a successful preacher and administrator. He will preach Sunday morning on "The Larger Hope".

The people of Arlington who have no distinct church affiliation are cordially invited to hear Dr. Hudson next Sunday.

Myron Taylor, whose serious illness is referred to in another column, passed away last night (Thursday) at his home. Funeral Sunday at 2.30 at his home, 13 Maple street.

DISCONTINUE BUS SERVICE IN SPITE OF PROTESTS

Knowing the feeling that existed in Arlington among those who have been benefited by the bus line between Arlington and Watertown, and which was discontinued on Saturday of last week, the Arlington Board of Selectmen wrote a letter to the Board of Trustees. Their reply is printed below.

January 18, 1929.

Board of Selectmen,
Arlington,
Massachusetts.
Gentlemen:

Your letter of January 16th requesting continuance of the Arlington-Watertown bus was duly received and considered by this Board at a meeting this day.

The unprofitable character of this experimental line was fully considered by the Board when discontinuance was originally authorized. The matter has since been reconsidered at the request of the Selectmen of Belmont and again at your request, and the Board sees no reason for altering its original decision.

We regret that the financial condition of the Railway does not permit a longer trial of this experiment.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) STANLEY R. MILLER,
Member, Board of Trustees.

Would Relinquish Rights

Selectman Luke Manning, who interviewed Manager Dana for the Board concerning the discontinuance of the buses said in an interview with the Advocate that he reminded Mr. Dana of the fact that at the time the El asked for the bus permit, another line had asked for a permit to run buses over the same route. Mr. Dana replied that the El would be willing to relinquish its rights if anyone else wanted to try such a line.

Watertown Has Protested

There are many citizens of Watertown who are protesting against the Taxation without Transportation is what the Boston Elevated trustees seem to offer Arlington in the report of the Commission, accompanying the legislative bill, which was made public Wednesday morning. The proposed extension which would affect Arlington is Route No. 1. This would start on Commonwealth avenue beyond Harvard avenue to Governor square, thence by the Boylston street subway and the Tremont street subway to Park street, thence by new construction to Scollay under, thence via the East Boston tunnel extension to Bowdoin square, thence by new construction to the elevated structure at the corner of Lowell and Causeway streets, thence over the present elevated structure and causeway to Lechmere square, and thence out through Somerville to North Cambridge, paralleling for much of the distance the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad.

Chairman Gott Dissatisfied

According to the map which accompanied the report, the terminal of this route would be at or near Davis square, Somerville, which, while it is nearer Arlington than Harvard square, is not near enough, said Chairman Hollis Gott of the Board of Selectmen, who was one of the guests at the dinner given by the Elevated trustees at the Chamber of Commerce last Friday. Mr. Gott believes that the towns nearer Boston will benefit by the proposed extensions, but not Arlington. Possibly Arlington residents may be able to get to Boston a little quicker when there is a terminal at Davis square. That will be the only benefit.

Arlington, Mr. Gott said, should be provided with a service that will take care not only of its immediate gain in population, but of its future growth. In ten years, he thinks, the town will have a population of fifty thousand. An additional disadvantage is that Davis square, and all of the surrounding sections, are congested. This would seem to indicate that in the proposed extension there will be little or no relief from the intolerable crowding of cars.

But Arlington Must Pay

But though Arlington does not share in the benefits of the proposed extensions, it must, if the recommendations of the commission are

Later Delivery

TO THE AGENTS OF

The Advocate

In the future the Advocate will publish events of Thursday night in Friday's issue, by closing the forms at nine on Friday A. M., instead of at six P. M. on Thursday.

Heretofore Thursday night news could only have appeared the next day by employing a night crew, which would have been an unwarranted expense.

From now on the post office delivery will be made first and the papers will not be delivered to the agents and news stands until four o'clock on Friday afternoon.

Board Has Only Power to Recommend

To the Citizens of the Town of Arlington:

The matter of constructing new streets in the Town of Arlington is one of major importance to its residents. It is, of course, common knowledge that the growth of the Town for the past few years and since the World War has been of unprecedented proportions, and it is fair to state that this growth has not been exceeded by any town other than Brookline within the Metropolitan district.

The Joint Board is fully aware of the urgent need of well-constructed streets and that such construction has not kept pace with the development of the Town. The Board has not been remiss or negligent in its duty to the citizens in regard to this matter, for during the past five years, covering the period of the Town's most rapid growth it recommended for construction 76 streets of which 46 have been constructed.

There were filed with this Board

ARE GRASS FIRES AND ROBINS SIGNS OF SPRING?

Many strange things happen to make history. Just think, a grass fire in the middle of January! Usually at this time of the year we are wading through snow or slush, but spring-like weather of the week-end removed all snow. A passing engine on the B. & M. R. R. lost a spark from the smoke stack and said spark landed in the dry grass in the field off Mill street. The fire gained such headway that an alarm was sent in from box 391, bringing out the fire department.

This, coupled with a story told the reporter this week, that robins were seen in the Heights section, makes one wonder if we are really going to escape deep snow drifts and freezing weather, or if old winter is only dallying for a time with what we must expect in a New England climate.

WHO'S WHO AMONG NEWSPAPER PEOPLE

At the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Press Association, held last month at Hotel Statler, James D. P. Wingate, publisher of the Medford Daily Mercury, was unanimously chosen president of the Association. The Publisher's Auxiliary of December 22nd printed an article telling of the newspaper career of the new president. Some of the interesting data we reprint as follows:

"Mr. Wingate has had an interesting newspaper career, dating back to 1867 when as a boy he published the Little Joker which he printed on a Lowe press. In 1870 he published the Boy's Gem, and in 1872 the Bird's Nest.

"Before graduating from High School in 1873, he and Frank H. Pinkham of Newmarket, N. H., who at the time was publishing an amateur newspaper known as, the Philatelist, started a full-fledged weekly newspaper, the Newmarket Advertiser, which is still flourishing under Mr. Pinkham.

"In 1876 Mr. Wingate started the Exeter Gazette, and successfully published that paper for 22 years when in 1898 he accepted a position on the old Boston Daily Journal as business manager, where he remained until 1904 when the newspaper was purchased by Frank Munsey. In the same year Mr. Wingate purchased an interest in the American Architect and a half interest in the New England Magazine, becoming manager of both publications. He sold the Architect several years later to New York interests, and later sold the New England Magazine.

"In 1910 Mr. Wingate purchased the Chatham (N. Y.) Republican but desiring to return to Massachusetts he sold that newspaper in 1914 and fortunately was able to purchase the Medford Mercury, which was one of the leading weekly newspapers in the state.

It may be interesting to note that when Mr. Wingate was publishing the Chatham Republican fifteen years ago, he wrote to the late editor of the Arlington Advocate, Mr. C. S. Parker, asking if he would consider the exchange of the Advocate for the Republican, which would bring Mr. Parker and his family nearer his younger daughter, Mrs. Harold B. Wood and family, then residing in Hudson, N. Y. (a few miles from Chatham), and Mr. Wingate nearer one of his daughters, residing in Winchester. The firm hold Arlington had on Mr. Parker because of his well established business, did not make the proposition seem practical. However, after an absence of years, Mr. Wood and his family return to their native home to carry on the Advocate, that for fifty-seven years has been a part of Arlington.

MAINE EDITOR MAKES SOUND STATEMENT

The News, published at Damariscotta, Maine, says: "Some of the arguments for a socialistic or paternalistic form of government and for public ownership and operation of all public utilities are wonderfully conceived and presented. For example, the Kennebec bridge, built and operated by the State, is a paying proposition, ergo government ownership is better than private ownership for all kinds of business. But that does not prove that the government can operate bridges more economically than a private corporation. The government, whether state or national, pays no taxes and has no overhead expense. The overhead is included in the salaries of public officials and those are paid by taxation. Former President Taft, in speaking of the claim that the post office was on a paying basis, once said he could make any business pay if there were no overhead expenses. Public ownership and operation is a fine theory but except in a few cases, it is expensive and unsatisfactory and in the end the taxpayers foot the bill."

Fifty Years Ago This Week

The Ice Crop.—Last Wednesday afternoon we visited the ice houses of Addison, Gage & Co. at Spy Pond, to witness the highly gratifying sight presented by the hundreds of men engaged in harvesting the first good crop of ice from this source in several years. Nothing has given us so much pleasure for a long time, for it means comforts for many a home among us during these dreary winter months, employment through the whole year to many men who might otherwise be idle, the addition of a large amount to the taxable property in town and many other considerations and occasions for thankfulness which will suggest themselves to all.

Mother Goose.—Wednesday evening a novel and pleasing entertainment was given in the vestry of the Congregational church. It consisted of acts, tableaux and pantomimes, illustrative of many of the most familiar of Mother Goose Melodies. The entertainment opened with a piano solo by Miss Nellie Hardy, which ended in a march, to the music of which the performers paraded through the aisles to display their several costumes. Mr. Myron Taylor then read a witty address and introduced Mother Goose and Little Boy Blue. When the curtain was drawn back for the last time it discovered the entire company arranged in tiers one above the other, so that every face and form was visible, and in front stood Mother Goose. She recited a short closing address and then all joined in singing Auld Lang Syne, which ran off into "Jack and Jill", and so the pleasant affair ended.

Last Tuesday morning in several places in town the thermometer indicated ten degrees below zero.

Sunday School Temperance Union.—The first public meeting of this interesting society of young people has been arranged for next Sunday evening at six o'clock in the Universalist church. The president of the Union, Rev. W. F. Potter, has arranged a very pleasing programme, introducing recitations, singing and other pleasant exercises by the children.

Twenty-five Years Ago This Week

Next Tuesday evening, February 2nd, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frost of Pleasant street, Belmont, are to observe the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. A golden wedding is a rare occasion and one for great rejoicing and friends and relatives of this well known couple will see that it is all the occasion calls for.

Thirty bright and eager boys listened with rapt attention to Mr. A. H. Knowles on Monday evening as he spoke at the parish house, Maple street, to the Boys Chapter Club on his war experiences.

Mr. Fred Mead leaves on Saturday of this week, January 30th, for an ocean voyage as a means of rest and recreation from business cares. He sails on the Canopic of the White Star Line for Naples and will spend the time while the vessel is making her Mediterranean trip to and from Alexandria in touring Rome, Venice and such other Italian cities as the time will afford.

The Clover Lend-a-Hand gave a dainty whist party in Wellington Hall on Tuesday afternoon. The affair was a success financially as well as socially, and was particularly enjoyable. Eighteen tables were used for the game and two prizes were awarded for the highest scores. Mrs. Frank Sawyer and Mrs. Edith Pettigill were the fortunate winners. Delicious lemonade and fancy wafers were served throughout the afternoon by the ladies in charge of the affair who were Mrs. Herbert Reed, Miss Esther Babson and Mrs. William Rice.

Mrs. Muzzey and Mrs. Townsend, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William Burwell of Lowell place, planned and carried out a surprise party to their mother on Monday evening in honor of her birthday. The company numbered some twenty-five and these friends presented the hostess with a handsome chair in honor of the event.

The pleasant home of Mrs. H. L. Tufts on Mass. avenue was the scene on Monday evening, of a jolly party of children as well as some of the children's parents. The party was given by Mrs. Tufts and Mrs. C. E. King to their classes in the Baptist Sunday School.

—Mrs. Raymond H. Stearns has been confined to her home, 11 Pine Ridge road, with a severe cold this week, as has also one of her sons, Mr. Stearns, who has had a bad cold himself, has been kept busy acting as nurse. Friends of the family hope that they will all be in their usual good health soon.

—Late Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McCarthy of 179 Franklin street, were held up by two young men just before they arrived at their home. The pocketbook of Mrs. McCarthy was taken, which contained two one-dollar bills. A good description of the men was given the police.

—Sunday afternoon about 4.00 o'clock, the firemen were called out on an alarm from box 361 at the head of Medford street for a fire in a pile of rubbish in a community garage at 19 Medford street, owned by Mrs. Jennie Haggerty, of Nashua, N. H. The fire scorched a wheel of an automobile owned by Leo Balleau.

—One of Winnifred King Rugg's clever and interesting reviews appeared in the Boston Evening Transcript of last Saturday in the Book section of that widely read newspaper. Mrs. Rugg, who is the wife of George B. C. Rugg, connected with the Boston Traveler, took for the subject, "W. E. Woodward and His Wife, Helen Woodward," both well known in the literary and business world. It occupied a whole page and contained a picture of both Mr. and Mrs. Woodward. Mrs. Rugg's book reviews are always worth while, for she knows whereof she speaks.

—The Rev. Frederic Gill closed his house, 15 Devereaux street, on Wednesday, and will spend five weeks in Boston, returning home on Feb. 27. "I have often wished," Dr. Gill says, "to do this, and it is possible for me to do it now because of the kindness of some of my fellow-parishioners in the Unitarian church at the time of my injury and illness last summer."

—A splendid body of women from all sections of the town are meeting weekly for choral work. They have organized under the name of The Arlington Singers. The director, Mr. Henry Gideon, describes the group as a most healthy infant with a promising "future". The Arlington Singers hope to be one more reason for Arlington's place on the musical map.

—Mr. and Mrs. David A. Flynn, of 53 Park street, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital, Medford, Jan. 10. He has been named David for his paternal grandfather.

—Every Trinitarian denomination in town was represented at the January prayer-meeting of the Arlington Prayer League, held Tuesday evening, at the residence of Mrs. A. Lantz, 707 Mass. avenue. Mr. Jack Hartwell had charge of the song service, and Mr. Elmer Valentine led the testimony meeting.

—E. Bradford Nichols, tenor, appearing with the Harvard Glee Club, and who is a member of the faculty of the Gleasonian School of Music in Watertown, will be the soloist at the evening service at the First Baptist church on Sunday, January 27th. These evening services which are attracting music lovers and people who perhaps are not able to attend morning worship, are at seven-thirty o'clock. Mr. Feagan, the minister, is giving sermons that are full of inspiration. Mr. Mark S. Dickey, the organist, contributed much to the service by his numbers.

Universalist Men's Club Members in Town Lock-up

Two members of the Universalist Men's Club—Mr. W. E. Lannefeld and Mr. C. O. King—were inmates of the town lockup for a short time last Friday night. They, with their fellow members, were making a tour of the police station under the guidance of Chief Thomas O. D. Urquhart, when Selectman Arthur Wyman, just for fun, shut the door of one of the cells in the woman's compartment, locking his two friends in. Then, to carry the joke further, some one else shut—and locked—the door of the compartment. Before long, however, the police officers in charge found keys that would unlock both doors and the prisoners were released. They resumed the tour, although their comrades drew away from them, refusing to consort with "jailbirds". All of the members were impressed by the police station, which seemed to them a thoroughly up-to-date building.

The trip followed the talk which Chief Urquhart gave to the men at their supper and meeting in the church vestry, and in which he outlined the work that had been done by his department during the past year. Mr. Clarence Needham, the town accountant, and Mr. Paul White, the town Counsel, gave enlightening talks on their departments. Mr. E. L. Shinn presided at the meeting as usual. Mr. Joseph McCann, the steward, with an efficient committee, served an excellent supper.

PATROLMAN CURRAN ARRESTS TWO YOUNG MEN

Tuesday afternoon, Patrolman Thomas Curran rounded up two young men, one of whom was carrying a revolver, and the other supplied with fifty cartridges. The officer had noticed the two men at Brattle and Summer streets, and finally marched up to them, drawing his police revolver and commanding them to throw up their hands, which they did. The two were locked up at Headquarters. At the station they gave the names of John Bell, age 23, and Harold Strickland, age 23, both claiming to come from Revere.

In District Court at East Cambridge, Wednesday morning, both were held in $5000 each and the cases continued for investigation. Both claimed that they found the revolver on the Lynn Marshes the day before, and bought cartridges in Lynn. They stated they were on their way to Amesbury when arrested, and were looking for work.

REBEKAHS ENTERTAINED BY VAUDEVILLE SHOW

Following their business meeting Monday evening, Ida F. Butler Lodge of Rebekahs was entertained by a vaudeville show, put on by Mrs. Benjamin Stoney of Lexington. Mr. Lee Coburn played banjo solos and Miss Myrtle DeLong sang a group of songs. Mr. John Wright of Lexington gave an amusing Jewish sketch, and Alice Stoney pleased her audience with character songs and a recitation. A dialogue, "The Cohen Divorce Case", given by Mr. Wright and Mr. Stoney, kept every one in roars of laughter, as did also Mr. Stoney's "Bunch of Nonsense", which was well seasoned with jokes on members of the lodge. Mrs. Stoney and Mr. Coburn played for the dancing, which lasted until nearly midnight. There was a fairly good attendance. Most of those reported sick were Lexington members with the exception of the Vice Grand, Mrs. John Kelly, who has been ill for the past ten days at her home on Cleveland street.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Twenty-five Tenderfoot Scouts to be Initiated.

One of the most interesting features of the Merit Badge Exhibit to be held by the Boy Scouts of Sachem Council Friday evening, February 8, in Cary Memorial Hall, Lexington, will be the initiation ceremony by which twenty-five tenderfoot scouts are to be inducted into scouting.

This ceremony, a combination of the Candlelight Ritual started by Troop 21 and used by many other troops and the Obligation Rite originated by Troop 8, is most impressive. The President of the Council, the Commissioner, the District Commissioners, the Scoutmasters, the Chairmen of the Troop Committees and 16 picked Eagle and Merit Badge Scouts will all have parts in the new ritual as well as the candidates. As Feb. 8 is the 11th anniversary of scouting, at 8.15 o'clock every scout in the land will give the scout sign and repeat the Scout Oath and Law. And the ceremony at Lexington will be so timed that the scouts taking part will pledge themselves at the same moment that their brother scouts all over the land are doing the same.

There will be shown the various Merit Badges and the work required to win them, the Troop 4 Charter Member Cup will be presented to the winning troop. The Exhibit is continued Saturday afternoon and evening.

While the badges themselves will of course be on display, the exhibit itself will consist of things made by the boys, life demonstrations of the particular Scout activity, photographs of Scout activities of boys in this Council, etc.

In addition to the approximately thirty booths, each descriptive of a certain Merit Badge, there will be special exhibits of photographs, Court of Honor Work, Camp Sachem and Scout publications. Scouts and their Leaders will be in attendance at these exhibits and will gladly explain them to you.

To complete the program, the following special features are being planned:

1. The presentation of Merit Badges to boys of all Troops.
2. A Tenderfoot investiture ceremony.
3. A moving picture program of special interest to old and young.

At the Council Court of Honor held last Friday evening, the following badges were passed:

Star—John Tierney, tr. 7; Harvey Newgent, Allen Nelson and Elmer Ziegler, tr. 8; Emery Worthen, 22. Eagle—William F. Bennett, 3. Bronze Palm—Robert Bentley, 8. Gold Palm—Paul F. Hawkes, 5; Edwin I. Brainard, 8.

CAMPS WYANOKE AND WINNEMONT REUNION

On Saturday, January 19, at 12 o'clock, at the Hotel Statler, Boston, a boy trumpeter blew the call to 200 boys and 100 girls for the annual reunions of Camps Wyanoke and Winnemont. Wyanoke is under the direction of Mr. W. H. Bentley, of Winchester, and Winnemont of Miss Rae Frances Baldwin, of Arlington, with Mr. Bentley as business associate.

Mr. Bentley acted as toastmaster at the Wyanoke banquet, and Miss Baldwin at the Winnemont gathering. "Paul Byrd, the popular chef at Wyanoke, sang negro spirituals. Beautiful violin solos were played by Mr. C. R. Spaulding, of Newton, who will have charge of instrumental music at Wyanoke and Winnemont next summer. Interesting moving pictures taken at Wyanoke last summer were shown. WILLIAM M. HATCH SPEAKS ON PORTO RICO BEFORE FRIENDLY FOLK

The regular monthly meeting of the Friendly Folk Society of the Orthodox Congregational church was held on Tuesday, January 22. After an enjoyable supper, followed by regular business, a letter was read from Mrs. Gleason, a former member of the Society, who is at present in Chili.

The President, Mrs. Albert W. Wunderly, reported on coming events of interest and then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. William Hatch.

Mr. Hatch gave a most interesting and instructive lecture on "Porto Rico, illustrating his talk with many pictures which gave color to his descriptions. He presented the Island as a most attractive place for a vacation, and his pictures, showing the many and beautiful palms and the attractive buildings and pretty coast lines, verified his remarks. He also told us something of the devastation caused by the recent storms on the Island, and of the severe hardships which followed, especially for the poor.

-DIRT PER MINUTE

The accurate measure of electric cleaner efficiency is dirt per minute....

The HOOVER
It BEATS... as it Sweeps as it Cleans

keeps your rugs young...

IF THE sharp, cutting grit that saws so determinedly through rug fibers and shortens so disastrously the life of rugs stayed on the surface, ordinary cleaning methods would remove it.

But this, the most dangerous dirt of all, sinks heavily to the bottom of the rug and clings persistently.

It takes super-cleaning to reach it. This super-cleaning you have in the Hoover. Repeated tests under actual home conditions prove that it removes the most dirt per minute.

"Positive Agitation" enables the Hoover to remove more dirt per minute. It reaches the deeply-buried dirt by the time-tried effective method—beating reduced to scientific exactness.

We will gladly demonstrate to you in your own home that the Hoover does remove the most dirt per minute. Because d.p.m. represents the real gauge of electric cleaner capacity, you should see this test which is an accurate measure of efficiency before purchasing any cleaner. Telephone us today.

E. W. MORRISON MADE LECTURER OF ARLINGTON ELKS

Arlington lodge of Elks held one of its largely attended meetings, Wednesday evening in G. A. R. Hall. At the previous meeting, Cecil M. Hunt resigned his office as lecturing knight and at this time Edward W. Morrison was elected and installed into the office. Angus P. Macdonald of this town, P. E. R. of Winthrop Lodge, was the acting district deputy conducting the installation ceremonies.

During the evening announcements were made of a stag party in the Elks home tomorrow (Saturday) evening, a whisky party in aid of the Charity fund in Robbins Memorial Town Hall on Friday evening, Feb. 1, and a Washington's birthday party, Feb. 22, at Ye. Lantern. It was deemed best by the committee to change the date of the G. A. R. night to Wednesday, Feb. 27, when the party will be held in G. A. R. Hall. After the meeting the members enjoyed two hours of moving pictures.

KIWANIS ACTIVITIES

January 21st was the fourteenth anniversary of the birth of Kiwanis International at Detroit. The growth of Kiwanis during the fourteen years has been remarkable. The local club observed the anniversary with appropriate exercises held at the Middlesex Sportsman's club house on Thursday noon. Mr. F. P. Hawkes, principal of the Junior High West, who is the chairman of the committee on education, spoke with his usual eloquence on Kiwanis objectives for 1929.

Considerable interest is being taken by the members in the attendance contest and the two teams engaged in the contest are so close that they are practically tied.

A special message from the president of International follows:—"No more powerful factor in civic leadership and service exists than in the Kiwanis Club of Arlington. With pride in the accomplishments of the past, with confidence in our program for the present, let us press forward in service to Kiwanis in service to Kiwanians, to business and professional life, to community progress, and to all humanity."

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The regular meeting of the Girl Scout Council was held Wednesday, January 23rd, at the home of Mrs. Philip Johnson, on Pleasant street. There will be a special meeting of the Council at ten o'clock, Tuesday, January 29, in the Scout Headquarters in the Old Town Hall.

The first group of girls in the Tuesday Morning Troop passed their cooking test this week.

The January Get-Together of the Metropolitan Division Council will be held Monday, January 28th, at the Hotel Statler. The morning will be devoted to Round Table discussions, the hotel having given three separate rooms for this purpose. Arlington will be represented at each section by a member of the council. Luncheon will be served at half past twelve. The afternoon session begins at one forty-five. At this meeting Rev. Ashley A. Leavitt will be the speaker.

300 CLASS HAS BANQUET FOR FATHERS AND SONS

The Three Hundred Class held a Fathers' and Sons' night in the vestry of Calvary M. E. Church last night. The evening opened with a delicious dinner served by Mrs. George H. Easter, assisted by Mrs. Carl S. Nelson, Mrs. Sarah Walkinshaw, Mrs. Dagleish and Mrs. Henry Gameter. During dinner there was community singing led by Mr. Carl S. Nelson. Mr. E. Russell Tolman acted as toastmaster and introduced Mr. Floyd B. Risley who spoke for the Fathers. Henry Simmons responded for the Sons.

Principal Franklin P. Hawkes of Junior High West was the speaker of the evening. His topic was "Four Signs from Youth". In his wide experience with young people he has observed what they are talking about and picked out these four signs—"Don't be a fuss budget", "Let me try it", "Tell me the truth" and "Give me faith". The child should be allowed freedom. He should be permitted to work out his own salvation with the development of character and the sense of responsibility that will result. He should hear the truth about sex and religion and should be given faith in himself, in the world and in God. So equipped he will be able to go on and meet the problems of the world and be successful.

The company also enjoyed motion pictures of outdoor sports in the northwest. Mr. Charles Dockrill is president of the Class.

SEVERAL ALARMS BUT NO SERIOUS FIRES

On January 21 there was a grass fire on the property owned by the Buttrick Creamery Co. The blaze, which was set by a spark from a neighboring steam shovel, might very well have been serious, except for the prompt response of the fire department.

There was an alarm rung in from box 13 at 11.23 a. m. on Jan. 21, for a motor car owned by the Lynch Motor Co. of Woburn. The machine caught fire due to a short circuit of the battery.

Engine No. 1 was summoned to West Medford on a mutual aid call on January 22, to take part in quelling a house fire.

Because the cellar of C. B. Calkins at 111 Jason street became filled with smoke from the furnace, due to a defective draft, there was an alarm rung in from box 412, but of course there was no damage. This all happened on Jan. 23, at 12.33 p. m.

Combination E. responded to a dump fire on garden street on Jan. 24.

Yesterday (Thursday) an automobile owned by Thomas L. White of Elmer terrace, suddenly burst into flame. But the fire department quickly responded, and the rapid oxidation was instantly arrested, no damage being done.

—The Young People's Group of the Park Avenue Congregational church held a very successful party in the Parish House last Saturday evening. The guests came dressed to represent cities or towns of the eastern part of the United States and there was lots of fun guessing just what each one was meant to be. Then there were other amusing and entertaining games. During the dancing which closed the evening, an old fashioned Virginia reel was enjoyed. Mrs. George M. Otley directed the party and joined in the fun. There will be another party on the third Friday in February. All the young people are cordially invited to attend this.

—Mrs. George L. Parker gave a luncheon bridge at her home on Elmore street Wednesday for the benefit of the charity fund of the Sunshine Club. BELMONT OUTCLASSED

Arlington Wins Fourth Straight.

Arlington versus Belmont last Friday night at Arlington, could hardly have been called an exciting basketball game. The score, 33 to 11, was too one-sided to make it a thriller, but it had its good points. The team and the coach, Mr. Bevins, are to be congratulated on their attitude. Arlington did not look for a hard game and did not get it, but the boys did not let up for a moment. The killer instinct was there, the instinct that not only makes good ring fighters, but makes fighting basketball teams as well. Mercy and compassion are lovely sentiments, but are not conducive to success in athletics.

Of course, any team will look good against an inferior one, but the local lads played a hard, clean, sure-shooting game that would have given any opponent something to think about. Local Team Sweeps into Big Lead. The first period started with a bang as Capt. Lowder and Blackman scored in quick succession from the floor. The contrasting style of play left no room for doubt as to the outcome from the outset. In fact, it was not till Lowder had scored a point on a foul, and Driscoll had tallied a basket, making it seven to nothing, that Belmont solved the Arlington attack at all. However, after that things did tighten up a bit, and there was no more scoring until Kerigan made good a free throw near the end of the period.

The second period was slow. After baskets by Ross and Capt. Lowder, things settled down to a walk, largely due to the fact that Belmont's passing was so painfully slow and Arlington's guarding was so beautifully alert. Give those Belmont lads the ball, and it was like stopping the game entirely until they either threw it away or a pass was intercepted. G. Lowder and Ross saved the situation by scoring two points apiece from the floor as the half ended. Score—Arlington 16; Belmont 3. (three fouls).

Belmont Brightens

The third and fourth periods were more even, but still there was nothing like equality between the two teams. Butterworth of the visitors went crazy and two of his numerous attempts from back of the middle of the floor swished into the strings. Aside from that and a basket apiece for McDermott and Kerigan of Belmont, it was pretty much passing practice for Arlington.

Without reference to the scoring, it would be hard to pick an outstanding star from Friday's performance. Each man covered his assignment and did it well. Of course, Capt. Lowder scored nine points, which was high for the evening, but while his work was excellent, it could hardly be said that he outshone all of his teammates. Driscoll is a fine center, consistently getting the jump on his opponent. Ross' guarding was impenetrable. Oh yes, Mr. Bevins most certainly has a fine team!

As a matter of fact, the second team game was a much better contest than the first team game. It was a little ragged in spots and started out very slow, but it got to be exciting toward the end. Arlington won in the last minute of play, 12 to 10.

SLOPPY WEATHER PREVENTED BROOKLINE HOCKEY GAME

The sloppy weather over the week-end prevented the High School ice hockey team from playing its scheduled game with Brookline. Many wonder why the Greater Boston schools cannot get a chance to play their games at the Boston Arena, as do the Boston schools. When the season is over, however, and the championship games are to be played, then the Arena makes bids for the games, for they draw large crowds. The management probably figures it out in dollars and cents.

ON THE ALLEYS

John Sexton Breaks Record for Single String in K. of C. League.

The first half of the Arlington Council, Knights of Columbus bowling League came to a close with the matches Thursday and Friday evenings of last week on the Arlington and Regent Alleys. The St. Pats had been leading the league through the season, but took a bad fall. The Bruins, who had been the runners-up, won their matches, so going into first place and taking with them the championship of the first half. On the last night, John Sexton, who rolled for the Fillers, broke the season's single string record, with 137. The final matches resulted as follows: Fillers won two points from the St. Pats; Zevis won three from the Old Timers; Auctioneers won three from the Wacos; Post Office won four from the Lakeviews, and the Bruins won three from the Associates. The second half of the league starts this week.

A. A. A. Basketball Team Wins Its Eighth Game

The Arlington A. A. Basketball team won its eighth victory of the season on Monday evening, playing the Cambridge Shooting Stars in the Thorndike School gymnasium, East Cambridge, and winning by a score of 42 to 34. The Arlington boys led all the way. Goodwin made a great showing for Arlington, rolling up 20 of the points. All the Arlington boys played well. A. H. S. BASKETBALL TEAM PLAYS CAMBRIDGE LATIN

This (Friday) evening, the High School basketball team plays Cambridge Latin School in what will probably be a big test for the local boys, for Cambridge is going strong. Last Saturday evening, Cambridge lost to Medford High. Those who remember the game between these two teams last season recall the close score and the fast playing on the part of both outfits. The game will be played in the High School gymnasium, and will start about 8 o'clock.

COACH KATHERINE MCCARTY SEES HER TEAMS WIN

The girls' basketball teams of the Senior, Junior and Sophomore classes went over to Wellesley High School gym on Friday afternoon of last week to play against the class teams of that school. The seniors of A. H. S. won their game, 39 to 4; also the sophomores, 28 to 26, while the juniors tied their score. Coach Katherine McCarthy accompanied her teams to Wellesley.

MYSTIC VALLEY LEAGUE SCHEDULE CHANGED

Owing to the unsettled ice conditions during the past week, the schedule for the league as announced had to be changed somewhat. The balance of the games arranged for follow:

BASKETBALL NOTES

Murphy looks like a comer. He is short and a little bit slight still, but he is only a sophomore and can certainly handle a ball like a master. His shot from the floor in the last minute of the second team game with Belmont last Friday decided the issue in Arlington's favor. The coach evidently thinks he will bear watching, too, for he put him into the first team game for a little while, and Murphy made good with a pretty basket.

If she can retain the services of her coach, Mr. Bevins, Arlington High bids fair to possess a championship team for a great many years to come, judging from the work of some of the promising youngsters on the second team.

Arlington employs the zone defense system, contrary to the practice of most college teams. Dartmouth, Columbia, Penn., Cornell and most others find it necessary to use the man for man defense to take care of the larger space of a standard size court. There is no doubt that the zone defense works superbly on a court the size of Arlington's, but whether it serves as well on a larger one is debatable. The coming game with Brookline ought to tell the story. But along with Coach Bevins we are banking on the zone method.

The Brockton game is a crucial one. In fact, the M. I. T. tournament may be the stakes.

—Arlington Council, Knights of Columbus, met in K. of C. Hall on Mystic street, Tuesday evening. The chairman of the bowling committee, John Sexton, reported for the first half of the season, just closed, and outlined the schedule for the last half, which started this week. A committee of fifty was appointed to take charge of the annual show of the council, which will be presented soon after Lent. A special meeting of the council will be held next Tuesday evening, with Supreme Agent John Daly, as the guest of the evening.

ARLINGTON SQUEEZES OUT WIN OVER CAMBRIDGE LATIN

Thomas Scores in Final Seconds of Second Period.

At Newton last Tuesday, the Arlington High School hockey team won a hair-raising game from Cambridge Latin. The one to nothing score exactly indicates the relative strength of the two teams, and even that estimate may be a little bit exaggerated.

The Latin game was the first win that the local team has gained in three starts in the Greater Boston Interscholastic League, and it was a hard earned one. The Cambridge hockey exponents battled every minute. In fact, the last period was all Latin to Arlington. Chamberlain, the A. H. S. goalie, must have thought that there were fifty pucks in play at the same time, but he stopped every shot which reached him with an excellent display of defensive work.

Chamberlain Waits Three Years for Chance

Incidentally, Chamberlain is eligible for all the honors, all the congratulations that can be showered upon him. Due to the illness of Manning, the regular goal guard, who has the gripe, "Chambo" got his first chance in three years of waiting and trying. He stopped all the most vicious efforts of the hard shooting Latin crowd and did it with the ease of a master. Of course, even in the third session when things were hottest, their opponents had a tough time in getting past the local lads' outer defence at all, but a good fat portion of the credit for the shutout most certainly goes to Chamberlain.

Looked Black for Arlington

The third period saw the puck in Arlington's territory most of the time, while the Cantabs fought like madmen to tuck in the tying tally. It looked as though they might have succeeded except for the inspired work of Capt. Forbes at right defence and Chamberlain in the cage. It was Rice who made possible the winning goal. He looks like the best the High school has on the forward line.

SPORT NOTES

A rink was erected this season in the rear of the Senior High school for the use of the ice hockey team, but to date the boys have not played a scheduled game. The weather conditions have been such as to prevent the use of the rink.

"BUB" LOMBARD A HIGH SCORER ON B. U. TEAM

Richard ("Bub") Lombard, formerly of Arlington High School, is the high scorer on the Boston University hockey team so far, and it looks as though he were going to continue to hold that honor. In making the team in this, his sophomore year, "Bub" had to depose a man who has been a regular for the past two years at left wing. Here is another man that the Boston Bruins may be able to use in three or four more years.

STATE COURSE IN TEACHING IMMIGRANTS

A fifteen lesson course in Methods of Teaching English to Adult Immigrants, under the auspices of state university extension, will begin Saturday, February 2 at 10 a. m. in the Massachusetts School of Art, Exeter and Newbury Streets, Boston. Miss Mary L. Guyton, State Supervisor of Adult Alien Education will be the instructor of the course.

The main object of the instruction will be to prepare teachers, both experienced and inexperienced for work with adult aliens. Other persons who are interested in the immigrant problem of this state and who wish to know something about the method of handling it are invited to enroll also.

Two types of subject matter will be introduced, first an outline of ideals and objectives and second the proper methods of teaching English to groups of immigrants. The technique of this second part has been carefully prepared and is the fruit of long experience in this particular kind of teaching work, which has its own specific problems. Miss Guyton plans to illustrate the lesson with examples drawn from her own experience in teaching and supervising. Some topics of the course are as follows: Americanism and good citizenship; study of the political, social, and cultural backgrounds of the largest racial groups in this state; methods of teaching adult immigrants (demonstration lessons are provided for each type of immigrant class); study of the immigration law and its effect on naturalization; thirty lessons in naturalization and citizenship—a review of the Massachusetts course on citizenship training; and industrial Americanization.

Certificates will be awarded to those who complete the work satisfactorily.

On December 18th, 1873, she married Edwin Prescott and went to reside with the parents of Mr. Prescott, where the couple remained until 1880, when they came to Arlington. They purchased the home on Russell street, where they have always resided and where their three children were born. They are Mr. Arthur Thompson Prescott, of East Orange, N. blessing, for she was one of those old fashioned mothers, who considered her home her kingdom, and her neighbors her friends, whom she was always looking for an opportunity to serve. As long as health permitted, Mrs. Prescott was active in the Social Alliance of the First Parish church, where the family was identified, and a member of Arlington Woman's Club.

ELLEN GOULDING ALMY

Ellen Goulding Almy, mother of Mrs. D. Thomas Percy, died in the late evening of Monday, January 21, at the nursing home of Miss Cora D. Collup, 203 Park avenue, where she had been a patient for the past six months. Since the death of her husband, George Almy, who was a prominent Brooklyn, N. Y. merchant, Mrs. Almy had spent a great deal of her time with her only daughter, Mrs. Percy, whose intimate friends came to know and love her, because of those splendid traits of character that denote right living and thinking. She had a charming personality, devoid of all ostentation, and a kindly interest in all the activities in her daughter's home, of which she came to be a part some twelve years ago. Although stricken down in health seven years ago, Mrs. Almy retained her interest and love for her daughter's household, in which she received devoted care.

Ellen Goulding was born in Liverpool, the daughter of Emma and George Goulding, December 6, 1849. When a young woman the family moved to Toronto, where many of her relatives still reside, although Mrs. Almy is survived by only one sister, Mrs. Marion Miller, of Winnipeg, Quebec, besides her daughter, Mrs. Percy.

The funeral, which was private, was held Wednesday morning at ten o'clock, from the home of Dr. and Mrs. Percy, 11 Water street. A simple service of scripture, prayer and a favorite poem of Mrs. Almy was conducted by Rev. Charles Taber Hall, rector of the St. John's Episcopal church. The body was accompanied by the family to Newport, R. I., where it was placed in the receiving tomb for the present. Besides the daughter and sister referred to, Mrs. Almy is survived by five grandchildren. They are George Almy Percy of Brookline; D. Thomas Percy, of Hollywood, Calif.; Frederick B. Percy, of Newton; Minot Percy of Bedford, and Ellen Goulding Percy Lee, of Arlington; also five great-grandchildren.

MR. DANA REPLIES TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE LETTER (Continued from Page One) that time, the sentiment expressed was that they did not desire to have the trustees use the land which had been acquired for the purpose of rendering adequate transportation.

"We stated at that time that if any suitable alternate location could be found we would work as assiduously in using it as we had on the original provision of land which would solve the problem.

Second Site Rejected

"The Selectmen and Board of Public Works some time later suggested another lot of land which was entirely acceptable, namely that along the railroad track from Mill street. The Joint Board of Arlington was unsuccessful in having this second site accepted. Following this failure efforts were made in Cambridge to secure a site equally as effective in the vicinity of the Cambridge Poor Farm, and this also resulted in failure.

"Many studies were made by the Elevated on other pieces of land, all of which involved such expenditure and so many difficulties that they were not even in the class of the three locations which had resulted in unsuccessful conclusions.

"The chief objection to the use of the land owned by the Elevated at Tufts street was the construction of repair buildings. Since the original plans were conceived the Metropolitan Planning Division has proposed rapid transit routes Nos. 1 and 2, one terminal of which will be in the vicinity of Davis square or North Cambridge, which quite modifies the necessity for any repair units on the land if and when this rapid transit shall be consummated.

"It is quite plain that over a period of years substantial efforts have been made to correct the situation, which was known in 1920 and which, owing to the growth in population, has not improved although every effort with existing facilities has been put forth constantly to meet the increasing growth of traffic.

Facilities Inadequate

"An adequate transportation system cannot be operated without adequate facilities. Those do not now and have not existed at North Cambridge carhouse or Arlington Heights, and there is a physical limit which has been reached at the present time within the capacity of existing facilities, which is evident to all who use the Arlington lines today.

"You call attention to the fact that the population increase in Arlington from 1910 to 1925 was 122 percent. Let me state that the capacity provided in 1910 to Arlington beyond North Cambridge was 14 units per hour between 5 and 6 p. m., having a seating capacity of 404 seats. At the present time there are 39 units per hour with a seating capacity of 2168 seats, which is an increase in provided capacity of 436 percent.

"We have recently modified the schedule to prevent difficulties which existed a few weeks ago and an improvement has been secured thereby; but the fundamental problem still remains, and it is my suggestion that, pending the construction of the rapid-transit route to Davis square or North Cambridge, in cooperation with the board of trustees, the people and the Selectmen of Arlington grant the right to enter the land now owned for the purpose of operation, with the understanding that it a temporary expedient to correct the service situation until the major improvement of rapid transit can be secured.

"It is possible in this way, without the construction of any detrimental buildings, in a short time to solve the Arlington problem sufficiently until the rapid-transit plan can be secured.

"In the meantime the operating organization will exert itself to its utmost to meet the trying conditions."

It would seem with the large area available at the Heights that the Boston Elevated had ample room for storage, tracks and a repair shop.

discontinuance of the cross-town bus line from Watertown Square through Belmont to Arlington Square, which after three months trial was discontinued on last Saturday.

The Watertown Sun of last Thursday ran an article on its front page, calling attention to the discontinuance of the busses, in which it said that "The first notice that the line would be discontinued was by means of placards posted in the busses the early part of the week."

Chairman John J. Barrett, of the Watertown Board of Selectmen, expressed himself as hoping that the Elevated officials would continue the bus line, and the selectmen through the town clerk, Arthur E. Hough, have registered a protest against discontinuance of the bus line; also President Wycliffe C. Marshall of the North Watertown Civic Association, which association is making an effort to have a meeting with the Elevated Trustees.

Watertown citizens feel like Arlington, that three months trial is not definite assurance that the line would not develop into a paying proposition if given a longer tryout. Its removal comes at a time when its service to the people is most appreciated.

for construction in 1929 petitions for 42 new streets, and of that number 26 have been recommended by this Board, and will appear in the warrant for the Annual Town Meeting in March. Included in this number are eleven streets which were recommended by this Board last year and for which no appropriation was made at the last Annual Town Meeting.

This Board has only the power of recommendation. The construction of such streets is determined by the vote of the Town Meeting Members. If the Town Meeting votes the necessary appropriation, the streets will be constructed. If no appropriation is voted, the streets cannot be built. The responsibility, therefore, rests with the Town Meeting Members.

It is the opinion of the members of this Board that all of these streets should be constructed this year.

SAMARITAN SOCIETY ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

At its business meeting, held Monday afternoon in the Universalist Parish House, the Samaritans elected Mrs. James Younie, president, and Mrs. Marion K. Peirce, vice-president. Mrs. Clarence Needham was re-elected secretary, and Mrs. Fred A. Horter, treasurer. Mrs. George Macomber, the retiring president, was surprised by a gift from the members. Mrs. Calvin Cook made the presentation speech. The cast of "How We Earned a Dollar," gave Mrs. Wallace Powers a beautiful handkerchief and a bottle of her favorite perfume, as an expression of their appreciation of her work in coaching their play. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Powers and Mrs. William McLean.

Mrs. Cook presented to Mrs. Macomber a ship model for which she had expressed a wish when the Society was on an outing last summer. Mrs. Cook said in part, "After visiting many steamship lines and private yacht clubs we decided upon the 'Santa Maria' as being perfectly seaworthy. Many trips she has taken upon the Bounding Main and is ready to set sail at your earliest desire. She is well manned with kind thoughts and stored with records of your achievements of the past two years. And if you don't want to roam the ocean blue for a spell, perhaps she may find a safe anchorage on your old fashioned mantle. We all hope you will enjoy her as much as we have enjoyed selecting her."

—The Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Camp 43, together with its Auxiliary, Frederick A. Wilson, commander, and Mabel Read, president, are to run a series of whist parties Tuesday evenings, beginning February 5th. They will be in G. A. R. hall and to raise money for Memorial Day observance.

followed, help to pay for it. This, said Mr. Gott, will take fifty years, during which time Arlington property owners must pay pro rata as do the other towns.

With regard to this, the Commission's report is as follows:—

Public Contribution

"The construction of rapid transit lines invariably results in better street conditions. The removal of trolley cars from the highway adds markedly to their carrying capacity for other vehicles and tends to decrease traffic congestion. It would be hard to conceive of the condition of Tremont street if trolley cars, as well as automobiles still used it, and the removal of surface tracks from Governor square will be of great advantage not only to the car riders but to the automobilist. It is also true that rapid transit extensions tend to increase property values in the district served.

"The commission therefore believes that there is justification for public contribution to rapid transit extensions on the grounds of highway improvement and increased property values.

"These arguments have greatly influenced the recommendations of other commissions who have studied the rapid transit needs of many other large communities and nowhere is it felt that with fairness can the entire burden of rapid transit service be placed upon the car rider.

Amount of Tax

"Accordingly your commission is unanimous in believing that public taxation must carry part of the burden of new transit facilities. On the other hand we would have this burden made as light as possible in view of the many burdens carried by taxation. Accordingly in the bill accompanying this report, we have provided two limitations upon the amount to be carried by taxation, the first being that not more than one-half of the fixed charges of the new rapid transit lines be thus paid, and the second being that in no event shall the annual amount assessed exceed 35 cents per thousand on the assessed valuation of the transit district. This double maximum in our opinion, protects the owner of property against an undue burden and gives him information of the maximum that can be expected. A limitation of 35 cents a thousand means that the man with a $10,000 home cannot be asked to pay more than $3.50 per year for improved transit service; that the maximum payment by the man owning a $100,000 home will not exceed $35.00 per annum, and that the million dollar state will have its burden limited to approximately $350.00.

Metropolitan Council

"This commission recommends that, before any new rapid transit lines are placed in operation, the public trustees of the Elevated lay before a metropolitan council, made up of the mayors and chairmen of the selectmen of all of the cities and towns in the transit district, their recommendation as to the portion of the rental of such new transit lines which should be paid by the Elevated and the reasons therefor, and the portion which should be levied upon the taxable property of the transit district. If the metropolitan council shall vote in favor of the recommendation of the trustees of the Elevated, then the recommendation of the trustees shall be carried into effect in the contract to be executed between the Elevated and the transit district for the use of said rapid transit facilities. If the metropolitan council does not approve the recommendation of the trustees of the Elevated, then the matter shall be submitted to the department of public utilities for final adjudication.

"It is further suggested that in voting in the metropolitan council, each city and town be entitled to one vote for each $100,000.00 of its valuation or fraction thereof.

Would Assess All

"This commission does not favor the assessments of betterments on a particular district because of the great difficulty of determining not only the property which will be benefited, but the amount of the benefit; and, as its plans provide for rapid transit improvements in substantially all sections of the district not now served by rapid transit lines, ultimately the whole district will be benefited, and the theoretical arguments for betterments on a particular zone cease to exist.

"Moreover, the commission believes that the principal public contribution should not apply to existing subways, but merely to subways or rapid transit lines hereafter constructed, and that all present leases should at once be extended on the basis of the present rental of 41 percent annum, such extension to continue until the sinking fund has paid for said subways.

"The valuation of the cities and towns served or benefited by the Elevated is about $3,200,000,000, and at 35 cents per thousand (the maximum contribution from taxation) will amount to a little over $1,100,000 per annum. We doubt if the full maximum need be assessed as we believe that a reorganization of the Elevated can be effected which will make very marked savings in fixed charges and taxes.

Recommends Transit District

"Under the control act of 1918, the commonwealth was primarily responsible for all guarantees made in that act, although any cost falling upon the commonwealth was later assessed by it upon the cities and towns served by the Elevated. The population of the district served by the Elevated is about one-third of the population of the state and this commission feels it is unwise to use state credit for the benefit of a particular district and, therefore, recommends the creation of a transit district made up of the following cities and towns: Arlington, Belmont, Boston, Brookline, Cambridge, Chelsea, Dedham, Everett, Malden, Medford, Milton, Newton, Revere, Somerville and Watertown. This district is to be managed by the same board of trustees that manage the Elevated and having full authority to issue its bonds and other obligations for such purposes as may from time to time be authorized by the Legislature.

"This commission would have this transit district the instrument used for the reorganization of the Elevated as hereinafter recommended and, it would further have this district at once acquire from the city and the commonwealth their present subways and rapid transit lines, construct all new rapid transit lines, and acquire from the Elevated its elevated structures and viaducts. The transit district would thus become the sole owner of all rapid transit lines and there would not be the present divided ownership between the city, the commonwealth and the Elevated."

Representatives Should Act

Arlington's senator and representatives should come to the defense of the town, said Chairman Gott. They should meet the plan aggressively as is in their province and power, and should see that the town is provided with good service before accepting the plan. The legislators, he believes, have more weight in deciding the question than anyone else. Certainly, now is the time for Arlington to get her share of the benefits.

Selectman Wyman Agrees

Selectman Arthur Wyman expressed himself as practically in agreement with Chairman Gott. He said that he had not seen a copy of the bill but from the report it seemed to him Arlington was not receiving the benefits it should. He thought that the tracks should be continued to Arlington Center or, preferably, to Arlington Heights and rapid transit given to that point. Then Arlington would receive benefits similar to those of other towns. Now it looks as if they were all getting something except Arlington. Still the residents would have to pay for it—even to their children's children. He, too, emphasized the importance of action by Senator Warren and Representatives Briggs and Barker.

Davis Square Conditions Important

Selectman Luke Manning said that it seemed to him that on conditions at the Davis Square terminal would depend the benefits that Arlington would receive. Unless there are ample facilities there, he pointed out, there will be the same congested condition as at Harvard square. He thinks that at the least the system should be extended five miles which would bring the terminal close to Arlington Center. Extension to Arlington Heights would make the system more complete. He pointed out that the road is there. The El trustees, he thought, might be willing to promise such an extension in the future, but before Arlington agrees to the bill he believes there should be something more definite than promises. Arlington has put up with a mean service for a long time and now should have the same benefits as Medford and the other towns to whose centers the system will be extended.

Present Service a Detriment

The present service, Mr. Manning continued, is a detriment to the town. People come out here to live and after enduring transportation conditions for a month or two move to some other place which they can reach more easily. He added that he was obliged to use the El daily, himself, so he knew the conditions. One morning a short time ago it took him fifty-five minutes to go from Harvard square to Harvard square. Frequently, he said, he stayed in town, coming out late in order to avoid Harvard square at the rush hour. Improved transportation is important to Arlington as it is a residential town. If the rapid transit could be extended into the town then Arlington might be willing to stand its share of the assessment. General Cole, who is now a member of the board of trustees of the El, had come out to Harvard square himself, said Mr. Manning, during the rush hour to see just what the conditions are. As a result he had promised to do all in his power to remedy these conditions which he characterized as "serious."

El Wants to Use Tufts St. Land

Mr. Manning has several times called on Manager Dana, as a representative of the Selectmen, to discuss transportation conditions. On practically every such occasion, said he, Mr. Dana had remarked on the fact that Arlington would not give the El a permit to put cars on their Tufts street land, or on any desirable place. If they would, said Mr. Dana, the El would give the town better service. This, Mr. Manning said, made him think that the El might be holding up the town's service because they didn't get the permit they wanted.

WOMAN'S CIRCLE HAS SUPPER AND ENTERTAINMENT

The Woman's Circle of Trinity Baptist church topped off a busy day yesterday with a supper and entertainment. The members went to the church vestry in the morning and tied off a quilt. After a box luncheon there was a business meeting which was followed by the supper. Mrs. James Rourke, chairman of the supper committee, was assisted by Mrs. Pearl Ganong, Mrs. John Hillson, Mrs. Pearce, Mrs. Grover, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Earle and Mrs. Hoag.

The entertainment was given by members of the Philathea, headed by Mrs. Arthur Davidson. It included a one-act play, "The Sardines," in whose cast were the Misses Dorothy Pearce, Sigrid Hill, Marguerite Thorne, Christine Macaulay and Mrs. Davidson. The Sunshine Quartet, made up of four young girls, expected to sing, but was prevented by the illness of some of the members. Miss Evelyn Thorne, however, sang solos.

—The Win One Class connected with the First Baptist church, held its monthly meeting and social last evening in the social room of the church. Supper was served at seven o'clock, followed by a social hour, with a brief talk by the pastor, Rev. Grady D. Feagan.

MORE CARS NEEDED

The complaints over the service given by the Boston Elevated on several lines as voiced in the city council Tuesday evening are only a reiteration of the feelings of many people who are obliged to use both surface cars and tunnel lines. The crowded conditions, especially at a time when sickness is so prevalent, make trolley traveling an adventure which is not always safe. The need for more cars is evident on all the main lines and particularly in the tunnel at the rush hours. It is plainly up to the Elevated officials to give this condition more study and see if it is not possible to improve service so that people can ride in comfort and safety. —[Cambridge Chronicle.]

VISITING NURSING ASSN BRIDGE AND FOOD SALE

On Thursday afternoon, January 24th, the Arlington Visiting Nursing Association gave a bridge party and food sale in the Middlesex Sportsman's Association clubhouse. The affair was arranged as a means of making up a deficit in the treasury, the first the association has had for many years. Through the generosity of the trustees of the Middlesex Sportsman's Association, the clubhouse was not only made possible for the affair, but also the chairs and tables. Other friends contributed generously toward the souvenirs, one for each table, to the highest scorer at bridge. They were Pond's Beauty Box, each one of which was tied with silver ribbon in observance of the Association's twenty-fifth anniversary.

Mrs. Morton C. Bradley was general chairman; Mrs. David R. Kennedy had the arranging of the tables; Mrs. Elliott R. Barker, the refreshments, ice cream and cake, served at the close of the playing, and Mrs. Clarence Johnson, in charge of the food table.

There were eight tables sold and some seventy occupied. The food displayed for sale, in one of the small rooms, was in great variety and quantity, but all was disposed of.

Mrs. Roger W. Homer, the president of the Association, and the ladies who worked so hard for the success of the afternoon, felt repaid for their efforts, for not only was a goodly sum realized, but the afternoon proved quite a social affair.

CHAIRMAN GOTT SPEAKS TO RESIDENTS OF THE CENTER DISTRICT

Hollis M. Gott, chairman of the Board of Selectmen of the Town, addressed a meeting of residents of the Center District on Wednesday evening of this week. The object of this meeting was to urge cooperation on the part of the townspeople in bringing about better rapid transit facilities and also to urge the acceptance of those streets for which petitions have been filed and which have been recommended by the Selectmen and the Board of Public Works. He said in part, "I feel very strongly that Arlington is being neglected in the matter of car service. I do not feel that the proposed $55,000,000 Metropolitan Rapid Transit line extensions are going to give Arlington much relief, but unless our senator and representatives get the united backing of Arlington residents, those same residents are going to be taxed for service to other localities that will benefit them little or none. Arlington is entitled to rapid transit lines to the Center at least. We are a rapidly growing community and will undoubtedly have a population of 50,000 by the end of ten years.

"In acceptance of streets I wish to urge the town to spend more than a nominal amount on the improvements as I believe that we have been backward in said expenditures and that such money as is needed for street improvements will yield an exceedingly good return."

OVERHEAD WIRES AND POLES COMING DOWN

The work of taking down the overhead wires and the wooden poles through the center business district is well under way. The wires will be placed in the underground conduits, made ready some time ago, and will add much to the looks of the town. These wires are heavy tension, and in case of fire, severe storms and the like, they were dangerous.

"TRAFFIC STOP" SIGNS BEING PUT IN PLACE

The "Traffic Stop" signs, recently authorized for use in connection with making boulevard stops on Mass. avenue, Pleasant street, Broadway and Summer street, are being put in place. These signs are of the style legalized by the State Highway Commission, and are set at the entrance of every street leading into the above named streets. As soon as all the signs are in place the police will start on a very active campaign to enforce the by-law which makes it necessary to come to a full stop before entering one of these streets. This is one of the best moves toward safety that the town has made.

THE REASON

The reason why the "No-School" signal was blown last week at 8.25 a.m. was so that Junior High school pupils would not think it was meant for them. The belief is that all children who live near enough to school to hear the signal will not need to start to school before that time. Those who live farther away will not hear it. The installation of sirens for "No-School" signals in sections of the town such that all school pupils would hear them is considered desirable by the school authorities.

LONGFELLOW CHAPTER SEES "THE SILVER SPOON"

The first meeting of Longfellow Chapter, O. E. S., under the recently installed officers, which was held Tuesday evening in Odd Fellows Hall, proved an unusually interesting one and was attended by a large number. Following the business there was a one-act play, "The Silver Spoon", the parts in which were taken by Mrs. Emma D. Cartmel, Mrs. Ida Wolmer, Mr. Edgar T. Downs and Mr. Jonathan Cartmel. Then, Mrs. Ida Hunt gave a clever impersonation of a mind reader, successfully mystifying her audience by her performance until at the end of her "act" Mr. Cartmel, hidden under the table, was discovered as the source of her inspiration.

OPEN MEETING OF ARLINGTON ROTARY CLUB

The Arlington Rotary Club meeting held on Wednesday was devoted to the discussion of a show. Sentiment was divided whether to have another show similar to the last one put on by the club, or to have a musical comedy or to engage an outside cast, but it was finally voted to produce another performance of some kind, the style to be determined by the ways and means committee. This committee is to submit two or three plans to be acted upon at a later meeting.

Sentiment seemed to be unanimous that six or seven hundred dollars should be raised for the charity fund. The best method of accomplishing this will be recommended by the committee after a thorough study.

ST. JOHN'S GUILD HEARS SPEAKER FROM SUPPLY BUREAU

At the meeting of St. John's Guild which was held Wednesday afternoon at the Parish House, the members heard an interesting talk by Miss Little of the Supply Bureau of the Diocese of Massachusetts. Miss Little told where the clothing and other supplies made by the Guild goes and how much good it does. She also described the Boston headquarters where second-hand clothing is sold and the supplies are packed for shipment. At the close of the talk tea was served by Mrs. Carl Barstow and Mrs. Richmond.

Plans were made at the business meeting for a supper next Wednesday night at six o'clock at the Parish House. This is announced as a "bean supper" but the delicacies which the members have volunteered to add to the menu, promise that it will be much more than that. It is the first of a series of events by which the Guild will try to earn the money it needs instead of raising most of it at an annual fair. On the supper committee are Mrs. W. H. Lyndon, Mrs. Benjamin Thomas and Mrs. E. R. Brooks. The next meeting will be held on the twentieth of February as the Ash Wednesday meeting will be omitted.

Only Small Amount of Back Taxes Remain Unpaid

Our local taxes are collected promptly and only a small amount of back taxes remains uncollected, as shown by the following figures from the Tax Collector's report for the year 1928.

Uncollected taxes for 1927 are: Polls, $4.00; Personal, $183.41. The settlement of these amounts has been delayed by the bankruptcy courts and by the absence of the persons assessed.

1928 Polls charged to the Collector were $20,208. Amount abated by Assessors according to law, $370.00. Amount uncollected Dec. 31, 1928, $276.00. On Dec. 31, 1927, the amount of polls uncollected was $394.00.

1928 Personal and Real Estate taxes committed amount to $1,750.783. The amount uncollected at close of year was $389,700. This shows nearly seventy-eight per cent of the 1928 taxes settled on Dec. 31. For some years the per cent collected at this time has been about the same.

Water rates collected for the year amount to $108,462. This total is only $714.00 more than the amount collected for the year 1927. There was a large increase in the number of meters, but because of the wet season, there was a considerable decrease in the amount of water used for sprinkling gardens and lawns.

Total amount of all collections for the year was $2,045,033. This is an increase of $164,000 over the previous year.

Danger in Extra Heavy Fuse

William E. Mason, superintendent of electric and fire alarms in Arlington, has called our attention to a recent article in the Boston Post, regarding the supposed cause of the tragedy that came to Mrs. Ruth last week, when she was burned to death in a house in Watertown.

Inspector Shumway of the Fire Marshal's office, was reported in the article as saying that he had examined the premises with Chief Ahern of the Watertown fire department and had come to the conclusion that the fire had originated in a partition under the flooring at a point very near the partition of a chamber adjoining the one occupied by Mrs. Ruth. The report states that there was no indication that inflammable liquids had been used and that the fire had started from overloaded wires. There were many extension cords running everywhere, Shumway said, and no provisions made for overloading the wires with current. The wires were not defective, but were not capable of carrying the load they were called on to bear.

For the benefit of those who may not have seen the article, we reprint it as follows:

"The ordinary floor-plug or electric light socket will stand just so much 'load' being drawn from it. The electric lighting companies have so arranged their fuses that a radio set and one or two floor lamps or table lamps can be wired to the one outlet. But, officials pointed out, hardware stores are now selling 'extra heavy fuses' without warning the purchasers as to the danger of using them.

"If too many lamps or other electrical appliances are attached to one floor plug or socket and the outlet is overloaded the 'load' will blow the fuse that is provided by the electric light company and there is no danger of fire. The 'extra heavy' fuses sold by the stores will allow many more pieces of electrical equipment to be attached to the one outlet and they will not 'blow' under the extra pressure.

"But, the experts point out, these extra heavy fuses do not protect the overloaded line of wire and such overloading is liable, and does in many cases, cause a short-circuit and fire, sometimes inside the walls, but more often a flash of flames at the outlet that will quickly set fire to adjacent walls or other inflammable material.

"Electric lighting experts warned last night that the fuses furnished by the electric light companies should never be tampered with and no 'extra heavy' fuses should be installed unless an expert electrician pronounces the installation as a safe one that will not overload the electric line and cause fire."

No Midyear Exams in Arlington Schools

Pupils in Arlington schools escape the midyear examinations that make the last of January miserable in most schools. For them "terminal tests" have been substituted. When one phase of a subject is finished the teacher gives a test in that phase before going on to the next. However, there are final examinations in June for pupils from the fifth year up.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE IS NEARLY NORMAL

School attendance during the past week has been nearly normal for this time of the year. Usually the winter attendance averages about ninety-three per cent. This year it is a little over ninety. One reason for the additional number of absentees is found in the strict surveillance which the nurses keep over the children. At the slightest suggestion of cough or running nose the child is sent home, to prevent as far as possible the danger of contagion.

Superintendent Moody feels that the schools have been unusually fortunate in the attendance of the teachers this year as only about three per cent have been absent—an unusually small proportion for this time of year. Indeed, ten teachers are the most that have been out on any one day and on most days it has been only seven or eight—a small part of the two hundred and sixty-five teachers employed by the town.

Rev. James Gordon Gilkey Speaker at Forum Meeting

The speaker at the Arlington Forum in Robbins Memorial Town Hall next Sunday afternoon at 3.30, will be the Rev. James Gordon Gilkey, of Springfield, and of Amherst College. He is one of the most popular speakers on the topics of the day in Western Massachusetts. His subject will be "Making the Most of Ordinary Ability."

For some years, the attendance at Dr. Gilkey's church has been so large that it is necessary to give the Sunday evening service twice every Sunday night to accommodate the crowds.

His work, "A Faith for the New Generation", has just been translated into the Japanese language.

The music at the forum meeting will be in charge of Mrs. C. Frederic Evans. Raymond Eaton, baritone, will be the soloist. Rev. R. R. Hadley, pastor of the Universalist church, will act as chairman. The ushers are to be contributed by the Universalist Men's Club.

BETHEL LODGE CELEBRATES FOUNDER'S BIRTHDAY

On Wednesday evening, January 16th, Bethel Lodge, I. O. O. F., held its annual celebration of the anniversary of the birth of Thomas Wildley, the founder of Odd Fellowship in America. Out of nine of the oldest members of the lodge, all of whom are P. G.'s, six were present. They were Franklin Wyman, who has been a member fifty-six years; Warren A. Peirce, a member fifty-four years; George A. Sawyer, for fifty-three years; George H. Hill, fifty-two years; Edward L. Smith, fifty-one years; Byron C. Earle, fifty years.

Three other long time members who, however, were unable to be present, were Frank P. Winn and Rollin Puffer, who have been members for fifty-five years, and Charles W. Illsley, for fifty-three years.

Of the seventy-six who have been members for twenty-five years or more, there were twenty-five present.

After the regular meeting, chairman of the committee, L. A. Austin, P. G., took the chair. The company was entertained by the Hobo Band of Crescent Lodge from East Weymouth, which kept the members in laughter for an hour.

Past Grand Jacob Bitzer gave a brief history of the Order and Bethel Lodge, some of the data of which was taken from the Advocate of December 13, 1874. Old time pictures about Arlington Center, and views of the Odd Fellows Home at Worcester were shown on the screen by Clifford A. Currier and described by Past Grand Bitzer, after which all retired to the banquet hall and partook of "Brother" John Wright's famous oyster stew.

Leonard Wood and Mr. Hovey in Special Musical Service

The evening service at the First Baptist church on last Sunday, drew a large audience. This was gratifying to the committee, which is endeavoring to serve the public in not only a spiritual, but a musical way, by providing a service of interest. Such it proved on Sunday, for not only was the program one of beauty and charm as rendered by the talent engaged, but the minister of the church, Rev. Grady D. Feagan, gave a sermon that gripped his audience. Mr. Feagan is an earnest and eloquent speaker, who seems to be thoroughly imbued with the purpose of his ministry in Arlington.

The musical part of the service was given by Leonard D. Wood, violinist, and Harlow H. Hovey, baritone, of Wakefield. The latter not only led in the congregational singing, but rendered two solos, one, "O Lord Most Holy", by Franck, sung with violin obligato. Mr. Wood, who is a pupil of Harrison Keller, and a sophomore in Harvard, is progressing rapidly under the guidance of his teacher. He shows unusual musical appreciation for one of his years, which has been developed by only a few years of violin study. His ability to hold the interest of his audience as he apparently did on Sunday evening, with such numbers as he selected for this program, was a compliment to him. His numbers were accompanied by Mark S. Dickey, organist of the church. They were as follows:

Organ and violin prelude—"Aria in G", Bach; "Praeludium", Pugnani-Kreisler. Violin solos—"Lied", Tschalkowsky; "Romance" (Concerto in D Minor) Wieniawski.

MR. AND MRS. WOODSIDE OFF FOR FAR WEST SATURDAY

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Woodside of 36 Hopkins road, will start for the Far West, next Saturday, going overland to Vancouver, B. C., from which port they are to sail on Feb. 6 for Australia, on a journey on which they will be gone for several months, with Australia as their objective destination.

They are to sail across the Pacific Ocean on the steamship Aorangi, of the Canadian Australasian Royal Mail Line and on their journey will make stops at Honolulu, also Suva, Fiji, and Auckland, New Zealand, and will reach Sydney, Australia, early in March.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodside have been great travelers, during the past six years, since his retirement from active business. They have visited many countries including a journey around the world, and have been in many out-of-the-way places not visited by the ordinary traveler. Australia is one of the few places they have not visited. They expect to return to their home in Arlington about the last of May.

Woman's Club Notes

Dr. Richard Burton Speaks on "New Appreciation of the Bible"

Dr. Richard Burton, the highest authority in the United States on the Drama, was the speaker at the last meeting of the Club. Dr. Burton was no stranger to the club, having appeared before its members on previous years, when he spoke especially on the drama. At this time he took for his subject, "The New Appreciation of the Bible". If there were any in the audience who previous to the lecture had felt no special interest in the subject, their curiosity, at least, must have been aroused to delve into the pages of the little book the doctor referred to so often, written by Dr. Richard Green Moulton, entitled "The Literary Study of the Bible". Under his skillful handling, has subject scintillated with a charm that was worth while. Dr. Burton feels strongly the need of some Bible reading in our schools, and while he referred to King James' version as the finest ever published, he recommended such an edition as that of Dr. Moulton's, which has culled out the beautiful lyrics, passages that can rightly be termed poems, pastorals and elegies, that should be known to everyone.

Elford Caughey, harpist of the Symphony Orchestra, played a group of five numbers very beautifully, and gave as an encore, insisted upon, a "Spanish Dance".

Previous to the lecture, resolutions were presented by the President, Miss Edith Winn, to the club, and recommended by the board concerning the appointment of a committee for the handling of the Permanent Scholarship Fund. Mrs. J. Herbert Mead, who with the late Miss Ethel Wellington, had charge of the raising of the fund, spoke regarding the appointment of a citizen of the town at large to serve on the committee in view of the fact that much of the money was contributed from former members of the Arlington High School. In order that more time might be had before voting on the resolution, they were laid on the table until the next meeting, which is February seventh.

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, of Brockton, First Vice-President, General Federation of Women's Clubs, says: "Words without deeds are meaningless. The Kellogg Pact is as weak or as strong as we wish to make it. Let us translate our enthusiasm in helping to ratify the Pact into a determination that having said we condemn war as a means of settling difficulties between nations we will act in all possible ways befitting the dignity of a great nation to preserve the peace of the world."

Members of the Woman's Club and their guests have a rare treat in store for them on February seventh. "The Powder and the Match"—a straight talk on the health of the nation, becomes, in Judge Alden's inimitable style and with his keen sense of humor and insight into character, a dynamic revelation of ourselves as others see us! Best of all, his lecture is constructive, suggestive and hopeful.

The Choral Class will continue its meetings at the Congregational Vestry on Wednesdays at 10 a. m. This class is open to the public and the fee will be $3.00.

The Executive Board is sponsoring a theatre party to be held at the Repertory Theatre in Boston, on January 31st. Tickets at $1.00 each for the matinee and luncheon tickets, if desired, for 75c, may be obtained from Mrs. John O. Matthews before January 29th. The play will be "The Octoroon", a revival of an old southern play.

—Mrs. Kenneth H. Dunbar, the daughter of Mrs. Mabelle Spooner, has returned home from the hospital with her new baby, who has been named Kenneth Haddon, Jr.

On Thursday of last week there gathered in the rooms of the Arlington Gas Light Company on Broadway, a group of Arlington merchants, who are to avail themselves of the opportunity afforded them through the University Extension Course, to become better acquainted with "modern merchandising". The course will extend over several weeks under the skillful guidance of a State expert, John J. Morgan. Much benefit can be derived by the merchants in Arlington from this course, many of whom are already showing that they believe there is opportunity here to develop a wide-awake business center that will attract buyers from other towns and cities.

Arlington is one of the main arteries for through traffic. There is no reason why her merchants cannot build up a fine trade. It needs, however, constant advertising and study as to the best methods of developing each one's business. An expert is at the service of every business man in Arlington, to be made use of by them.

At this first lecture Mr. Morgan spent the greater portion of the time devoted to the actual lecture in outlining the course of his future lectures. However, his more or less general remarks called forth some highly specialized questions in the discussion period, which occupied more than an hour at the end of the evening. The expert's address was perfectly straightforward and businesslike, and easy to comprehend throughout, and as a consequence, was thoroughly enjoyed by all those who were present. The meeting waxed very informal toward the end, because the crowd was kept laughing most of the time by the more or less humorous sallies of some of our leading merchants. However, reading between the lines, or rather analyzing the underlying thoughts, it was perfectly obvious that there were real problems beneath all this facetiousness. It was equally obvious, judging from Mr. Morgan's pertinent answers to questions, that the future lectures would be a very material aid to the merchants in their ensuing enterprises. More concretely, the instructor promised all his support and wide range of experience to the forthcoming mid-winter sale next week. He also put forth a plan for the coming spring as a scientific merchandising expedient which met with the approval of the fifty to sixty merchants subscribing to the course. On the whole, the evening was not only highly helpful and instructive, but it was most entertaining as well. The subscribers have well invested their money.

Every subject in the proposed course is of vital interest to merchants in our town. They are as follows:—Advertising—newspapers, direct mail, package slips, street cars, programs; Window Displays—motion, color, illumination, forms; The Customer—Types and how to handle them; Keeping the Customer Sold; The Clerk—Personality, knowledge of goods, relations with other employees; The Sale—Greeting the customer, showing the goods, closing the sale, recording the transaction; Service—What is it?; Increasing Service—Rendering Ability; Credits and Collections; Chain Stores.

No one should lose an opportunity to broaden his knowledge on the above subjects, no matter how proficient he is.

VALUE OF BUILDING PERMITS DROPS TO $21,600

There has been a gradual drop each week in the number and value of building permits issued since the beginning of January. The first week their value was $46,800; the second, $28,825, while last week it was only $21,600, less than half that of the first week. Mr. Mossman, clerk in the office of Building Inspector Gratto, holds the weather responsible. He believes that a little warm, spring-like weather will encourage the builders to renewed activity.

The permits, five in number, were issued as follows: William Leahy, 5 Park terrace, addition, $200; C. W. McAulley, 5 Florence terrace, garage, $400; Mrs. C. O. Dahill, 94 Harlow street, alter one-family into two-family, $1,000; Howland Dudley, 5-7 Johnson road, two-family, $10,000; Howland Dudley, 9-11 Johnson road, two-family, $10,000. Fifteen gas and nine plumbing permits were also granted during the week.

—The Boston Chapter of the national sorority Chi Omega held its annual meeting at the home of Miss Amy J. Winn, 50 Academy street, on Friday, January 18. Following supper, which was served at small tables, a business meeting was held and officers for the ensuing year elected. Miss Ella Tewksbury of Arlington Heights was re-elected as secretary, and Mrs. Charles Gott of West Medford as Panhellenic delegate. Miss Winn was assisted by Mrs. F. Leroy Eames, Mrs. John A. Smith and Miss Tewksbury, all of Arlington.

Extracts From Journals Of Local Forty-Niners

[Compiled from the diary of Stephen P. Blake, by William E. Wood, for the files of The Arlington Historical Society.]

Attack Upon the Yuba Mountain Indians; Women Prisoners Taken.

May 18, 1850. "The attacking party met a large number of the mountain Indians about 15 miles North of Johnson's. The Indians were completely taken aback to see so many white men armed and mounted. Buchen, the chief of our valley Indians who went with our party, from here, rode on ahead, with several men, and, giving them the sign of peace, told them that if they would lay down their arms they should not be hurt. In answer, they immediately shot at the white men, altho' they did not attempt to kill Buchen. A charge was immediately made on them, at which they retreated, leaving four of their number on the ground. It was getting dark, and the whites did not dare pursue them farther that night."

"The following day, our men went on until they came to the place where the last murder was committed. There, they put up a paper, on a tree, to warn travelers that there were hostile Indians about. About three miles from this spot, there was an Indian ranchore. The party had received information that these were the Indians who were guilty of the depredations. The ground was very rough and rocky, but, as the men were mounted on good horses, the party soon arrived within a short distance, and halted, to form into fighting order. All ready, they dashed right on to the savages, who were completely taken by surprise; but, like all savages, they knew too soon where their bows and arrows were. They immediately retreated, fighting by the way. They would wheel and discharge several arrows in rapid manner, every now and then. The ground was too rough for the party to surround and exterminate them, as was contemplated. Quite a number of them were laid low, however."

"When the charge was first made, one Indian who had been stopped by a rifle ball in his leg, lay on the ground,—his eyes flashing fire, and letting fly his arrows very fast. Two men rode up with the intention of taking him alive, but, altho' he could not stand, he wounded them both. One of the men received an arrow in his side, and the other was struck on the head. The one first wounded drew a holster pistol, and shot the Indian dead."

"The party pursued the Indians as long as they could, among rocks and ravines, hoping to take some of them alive, but they would not be taken. One fellow lagged behind the others, jumping from bush to bush, and dodging about so that it was impossible to shoot him. At every stop he made, he would wound someone with his arrows, or would shoot a horse. At last, he was surrounded, and the men drew in their circle, so as to take him alive. He began jumping from place to place, and let fly his arrows so fast that his legs and arms were going through a regular motion, like a machine. Dr. L. rode up to within 30 yards of him, and made a sign that he should not be hurt. The Indian instantly drew an arrow to its head, and pointed it at the Dr.'s breast. The Dr., however, was prepared for him, and proved that a ball is a swifter messenger than an arrow. They shot simultaneously, but the Dr. immediately swung himself to one side. The arrow passed by him, but went through the ear of his horse. The Indian received the ball in his breast, but he lived long enough to brag that he had killed white men."

"He had but 3 arrows left. These, with his bow, I now have, with me here at the farm. There is no doubt that he kept the rear, hoping to save his wife from capture. Poor fellow! It was a hard fate."

"On their way back, the party captured 14 women at the lodges. They might have taken more, but that was enough to hold as hostages. These women showed spirit and fearlessness that was most surprising. On being told to stop, they would keep right on, and they would laugh when the rifles were pointed at them. They knew that the whites would not shoot women. How were they to be captured, then? Mr. Nicholas had been much among Indians, and he knew their ways. He dismounted, took a stick in hand, and captured the whole party by rapping one of them on the head. They were then secured, and were marched back to their lodges. On examination of the lodges, it was found that the blow had justly fallen, for a part of the cargo of the wagon which had been robbed was found there, and even the blankets and personal clothing of the murdered man." (Charley Matt.)

"Our party then fired the lodges and burned them to the ground. The women took nothing away but some few trinkets, such as bead necklaces, etc. There were several of our whites wounded. None of the valley Indians of our party was wounded. They dodged the arrows of the enemy. Buchen, the chief, and Yuliah, a vavero, exposed themselves much. Buchen, on a splendid white horse, tried his best to overtake the head men of the mountain Indians and bring them to terms of peace. He did not use his fire-arms, but was on the gallion most of the time,—at times throwing himself to one side to give free passage to an arrow aimed too well."

"Our party then pushed their pursuit still farther up the river, burning some 20 ranchores in much the same manner as the first one, but not a male prisoner did they take. In many places, the Indians would outrun the horses, where the mountains were steep, and at times would leap 20 feet in one jump. Finally, our men collected, and marched back down to Johnson's, from where they had started, three days before. There they let all of the women prisoners go free but three, who were to be held. They confessed that it was their tribe that killed Charley Matt, and that he was the fifth one that they had killed and robbed within a short time."

"Tell me, O ye peace-loving, anti-war people, should not something be done to protect our folks? Tell me the best, the surest, remedy. If there is a country in the world that needs a Mission, it is California. If there could be found a considerable number of Christians who would come here and exert themselves to enlighten these savages, it would be a bright star in their Crown. I have often thought of it while with these Indians here. They learn quickly, and many listen with the most profound attention."

(Mr. Blake evidently did not like this murdering business, at all, even tho', at the outset of a punishment expedition, severe measures seemed necessary and justifiable.)
